VIDEO: TOOLING UP – KleenGuard PPE, Where Function Meets Fashion

Brought To You by Kimberly-Clark Professional | Dec 06, 2022

Video Highlights

In this episode of MSC's Tooling Up, Mitch Free is joined by Stacy Turner, Kimberly-Clark Professional's PPE Category Manager, for a discussion on KleenGuard's Nemesis and Maverick safety glasses. Compliance is key to sending your team home the same way they came into work, and KleenGuard's new Nemesis and Maverick lines of safety glasses are designed to be safer, less intrusive, and more stylish when compared to other safety glasses on the market. It's reported that 70% of eye injuries could be avoided if proper eye protection had been worn. Nemesis' and Maverick's comfortable frame and anti-fog coating address the top two reasons why safety glasses aren't used properly on the shop floor, keeping you and your team properly protected while looking sharp in the process.

Stacy also touches on RightCycle, Kimberly-Clark's sustainability initiative that can help your organization achieve its sustainability goals through the recycling of old and used PPE. RightCycle is the only manufacturer-led recycling program that exists today, positioning Kimberly-Clark as a leader on the forefront of sustainability.
