Are You Ready for Wildfires? Key Cleanup Hazards and How to Stay Safe

Brought To You by Honeywell Safety Products | Jul 05, 2023

Preparation for wildfire season means not only having the right safety procedures and equipment before a fire – but also for the cleanup afterwards.

Even after a fire has passed and the worksite has been cleared for re-entry, many dangers remain for workers involved in cleanup operations. To prepare, consider whether you have the right personal protective equipment (PPE) for the key hazards present after a wildfire.

Get in gear for wildfire season. To learn more and assess your PPE needs for disaster cleanup, please contact your Honeywell sales representative or a local Honeywell distributor.
