In this episode of MSC's Tooling Up, Toni Neary is joined by James Clinton, Inside Sales Manager at Starrett, for a conversation that explores the latest innovation in precision measurement tools – DataSure 4.0. The duo discuss how DataSure 4.0 is revolutionizing data collection for tools in the manufacturing industry. The system offers three scalable schemes, including a portable option with a free app for iOS and Android devices, a smart scheme for direct computer connectivity, and a large factory scheme for extensive tool networks.

This conversation takes a deep dive into the user-friendly features of DataSure 4.0, emphasizing its ease of use and compatibility with a wide range of measurement tools, not limited to just Starrett products alone. James also highlights the encryption of transmitted data, ensuring security during communication. Whether you have a single tool or a large factory floor, DataSure 4.0 adapts to your needs, enhancing efficiency and productivity.

Starrett's bold reputation as the "world's greatest toolmakers" is backed by their commitment to quality and innovation.
