VIDEO: TOOLING UP: Designing Motorsports Favorite Glove

| Mar 06, 2024

Video Highlights

In this episode of MSC's Tooling Up, Toni Neary is joined by Kenny Safford, Chief of Design at Mechanix Wear for a discussion on their newest Max Cut™ line of safety gloves.

We take a look into Kenny's background in motorsports and design at Mechanix Wear, highlighting his pivotal role in creating their iconic gloves. Safford emphasizes the company's commitment to functionality, craftsmanship, and innovation, showcasing their meticulous approach to product development. The conversation explores the intersection of performance and comfort in Mechanix Wear's gloves, appealing to various industries beyond mechanics. With a focus on dexterity, protection, and quality, the discussion underscores Mechanix Wear's reputation as a leader in workwear solutions.

Designed for the fast-paced world of motorsports, these gloves give your team the competitive edge they need to get the job done faster, and safer. This is an episode you won't want to miss.
